

Catering Fit-Outs - AsiaWorld-Expo

Client Company: Compass Group Catering, Hong Kong

The Challenge

To manage, coordinate and advise on the tender process and selection of companies to design and fit-out the catering facilities at AsiaWorld-Expo - a new state-of-the-art conference and exhibition centre opening adjacent to Hong Kong's International Airport on Lantau Island.

A multi-faceted project to provide hospitality, retail, snack and mobile catering operations - requiring everything from walk-in freezers, to pots and pans, and even menus - covering Chinese and Western style catering - with the final project phase being the relocation of the existing production kitchen.

The Solution

The project involved running the entire tender process for suppliers of catering equipment, smallware and tableware - from production of equipment listings to shortlisting suppliers and making final recommendations. The whole procedure - as well as the subsequent costing and order processing - was undertaken by Zazz with a full and transparent audit trail to meet with the internal quality system requirements of Compass Group Catering and AsiaWorld-Expo.

In addition Zazz worked with the design company, making recommendations with regard to design, layout and naming of the different catering venues, as well as developing Chinese and Western style menus reflecting the multi-cultural nature of the AsiaWorld-Expo site. This included ensuring that the different catering operations at the new site would comply with Hong Kong's licensing requirements.

As a final part of the project Zazz Projects produced an overall logistical plan for the relocation of Compass Group Catering's existing operations on Hong Kong Island to the new Lantau Island site.

Testimonial

"Zazz's involvement was no doubt a key element to our successful mobilisation. Their attention to detail and holistic approach to project management saw them working not only in their primary areas of responsibility, but working with our management team to uncover areas that needed more attention or had not been addressed in our own mobilisation plans.

"We are extremely grateful for their hard work and have no hesitation in recommending them based on our experiences."
